

I object to the FCC's proposal to expand LPFM if it means that new LPFM stations may take priority over current FM translator service. Specifically, I am concerned that the expansion may force national or regional services such as K-LOVE radio off the air. My family, friends, and I listen to K-LOVE every day and not appreciate losing its family friendly programming to an LPFM station that may not have the same values we have come to enjoy. K-LOVE supports wholesome values and has a positive and encouraging impact on communities all across America. My family, community, and country need MORE programs like K-LOVE, not fewer. Losing K-LOVE, and programs like it, in favor of LPFM would be a great dis-service to our community, and country.
